

HOW TO TREAT OPIMUM POISONING

Dr. W. F. Beer and Dr. W. R. Calderwood on the Stand as Experts.

FURTHER SENSATIONS IN LILLIE JORDAN CASE

It Appears That All Precautions Were Not Taken to Save Girl's Life.

Professional testimony was introduced at the second hearing of the inquest into the suicide of Lillie Jordan, Tuesday, Dr. W. F. Beer, of the L. D. S. hospital, and County Physician W. R. Calderwood were called to the stand to testify as to the symptoms of opium poisoning and the methods of treatment in cases of that kind. Their testimony, especially that of Dr. Beer, tended to show that the life of the girl might have been saved with strict medical attention.

The parents' testimony Tuesday precluded the possibility of a second dose of poison and, according to the expert testimony, death was possible from the first dose twenty hours after it was taken. The emetics and other medicines administered simply delayed the process of absorption of the poison by the stomach, and since there was no use of the stomach pump, which would have been advisable, it is claimed, the poison lay in the stomach waiting to exert its deadly work when the deterrent effects of the emetics should clear away.

Dr. Beer's Testimony.

Dr. Beer followed Conrad Jordan, the first afternoon witness to the stand. His testimony was interesting in the extreme and showed a thorough knowledge of opium poisoning. Death from that poison is pleasant, he said. The stomach, if it is empty, readily absorbs opium, then comes a soothing feeling, followed by drowsiness and finally coma and deep sleep that ends in death unless broken. The breathing becomes less apparent and death finally results from paralysis of the respiratory centers. One of the early symptoms of opium—or any other drug—poisoning, is itching of the nostrils, followed by a similar sensation over the body, which finally becomes blue, usually in spots.

One of his first treatments in opium poisoning is the use of hypodermics. Dr. Beer testified that if there is no vomiting in a short time, probably a half hour, then the stomach pump should be resorted to. Emetics, such as hot water, if they do not produce vomiting, merely delay the stomach's absorption of the poison.

Prior testimony has shown that the girl must have taken nearly two-thirds of an ounce of opium. In this quantity of opium light there are about fifteen grains of the pure extract, enough to kill any person not addicted to the use of opium. Dr. Beer testified that there was no testimony at any time in the hearing to show that the girl was an habitual user of either opium or morphine.

Dr. Beer gave his personal experience in attending cases of opium poisoning. It is the ethics of the profession to watch patients closely personally unless called away by more urgent business or unless the danger of death from the poison has been removed so remotely that there is little hope of recovery. In the first case full instructions, with prescriptions, are left to combat the poison.

Dr. Beer testified regarding the possibility of the girl going to sleep and then awakening and secretly taking a second dose of poison, that it would have been a physical impossibility for her to have awakened of her own volition under the circumstances known in her case. Miss Jordan dropped at the mouth an hour or so before death, according to early testimony. Dr. Beer said frothing at the mouth is unusual, but sometimes occurs.

Dr. Calderwood took the stand next. His testimony, covering questions similar to those put to Dr. Beer, corroborated the latter.

Dr. Wilcox's Testimony.
Dr. Wilcox's own testimony, as well as that of the parents, showed that after administering an emetic, which failed of desired results—vomiting—he neglected to use the stomach pump. Evidently considering the girl out of danger he left her to the inexperienced attention of her parents, with instructions to administer large quantities of warm water at certain periods, to produce vomiting and thus rid the stomach of the poison. The stomach pump, according to the expert testimony, would have performed this function. If he left any instructions to recall him in case of an unfavorable change it is not shown.

Dr. Wilcox was to have been recalled to the stand Tuesday afternoon, but failed to be present. It was said that he was out of the city temporarily.

Mrs. Jordan completed her testimony Tuesday morning and was followed by Miss Anna Swenberg, the girl's cousin. Mrs. Jordan said there was other poison about the house, but that it would have been an impossibility for the girl to have got a second dose, so closely was she watched. The other poison in the house had not been molested, she testified.

Mrs. Jordan said she retired at midnight. Soon after she was awakened by her daughter, who said she didn't want to stay in bed. She coaxed her and she got back in bed. Later Mrs. Jordan was awakened by a sound as of someone falling, and got to find her daughter lying on the floor at the foot of her bed, moaning. She aided her back into the bed.

Miss Swenberg went over the girl's visit to her home at Murray Tuesday and Wednesday, her story of being married and the suicide. Miss Swenberg's testimony, as far as it went, varied only slightly from that of the father and mother.

They ate supper about 10 o'clock Wednesday night, Miss Jordan said, and the Jordan girl appeared bright and rational. As she went to bed she said, "I won't wake papa, no matter how much pain I have."

She also asked her mother to pray for her. Miss Swenberg said she slept with Miss Lillie, but beyond the latter moving from the middle of the bed to the edge did not know that she changed at all. In the morning her pulse appeared normal, but there was a slight discoloration of her left leg.

The father was recalled to the stand in the afternoon. His testimony de-

ROY OLESON FIGURES IN MARGARET REGAN CASE

He Is Now Locked Up in County Jail to Keep Andrus Company.

Another chapter was added to the sensational Margaret Regan case Tuesday afternoon in the arrest of Deputy Sheriff J. A. Emery of Roy Oleson, a youth who drives a delivery wagon for the Success meat market—on a charge of undue intimacy with Miss Regan. Oleson is 22 years old.

Oleson's case was up before the juvenile court Tuesday, according to the Regan family, but none of the proceedings was given to the public. The Regans claim they know nothing of the details of the charges against Oleson. It is said that Oleson's duties as a deliveryman brought him in contact with Miss Regan.

It was said Tuesday night that Oleson is married, and has one child. At the County Jail the truth of this report was doubted.

Card of Thanks.

I wish to thank my many friends for their assistance and sympathy during the recent illness and death of my wife, Ester E. Sutton.
GEORGE H. SUTTON.

Call and inspect the white enameled kitchen at the Royal cafe. Cleanliness and sanitation are perfect.

Excursion to Goldfield and Tonopah October 26, via Oregon Short Line. Round trip from Salt Lake or Ogden, $36.00. Limit November 4.

McCoy's Stables.

Carriages and light livery. Phones 81. designs and lodge emblems at the Flower Shop. Under National Bank of Republic.

FUNERAL

designs and lodge emblems at the Flower Shop. Under National Bank of Republic.

INJURED MAN NOT A FORMER SALT LAKE

Information has been received from the Tribune correspondent at Terre Haute, Ind., that John Gray, one of the men injured in the recent explosion in the powder mill at Fontaine, Ind., is not, according to a statement made by him in the hospital, a former resident of Salt Lake. The John Gray, who was born and raised here, was employed by trade, and left here about fifteen months ago for the East, without mentioning his objective point.

According to the statement of the disaster in an Eastern paper, Frank Gray, his father, who is living here at present, sent a photographer to describe to the scene of the disaster in order to ascertain if his son was injured.

We Present a Wide Variety

of the choicest furs to select from. Our prices are uniformly lower than are asked elsewhere for equal excellence of quality and workmanship, and our service is both prompt and satisfactory. McShee, the Furrier, Knutsford hotel.

All papers 25 per cent off.

W. A. Duvall, 110 West Second South.

Edward L. Dorn Writes.

The other side to the prosecution against Charles Konigsberg is given by Edward L. Dorn, vice-president of the Utah Coast Life Insurance company. In a letter, written to the city from Denver, Dorn denies that Konigsberg, who is alleged to have been a partner in the firm, was insured by the company, and attributes his statement to this effect as a "grandstand play."

SOCIETY.

Buy flowers at the Flower Shop, under National Bank of Republic.

All papers 25 per cent off.

W. A. Duvall, 110 West Second South.

Developed that his daughter carried life

insurance in the Metropolitan Life Insurance company amounting to $125. For a long time the premiums had been paid by her father, who was the beneficiary. Another child that died recently was insured, Mr. Jordan said. He also has insured the lives of two other children since then. He has not received the insurance Miss Lillie carried but expects to receive it, hopes to get it, he testified.

If the girl ever was afflicted with hysterical epilepsy he never knew anything of it, he testified. Neither he nor the girl's mother was afflicted with epilepsy, he said. Miss Lillie experienced three fainting spells, he said, that were superinduced by whiskey and assaults by young men upon her. Dr. Wilcox was called in one of these cases, he testified, but did not class the trouble as epilepsy.

It is possible that Dr. Wilcox will be recalled to furnish the formula for two medicines prescribed in diaphanous cases at the Jordan home, in May, this year. The bottles that contained the medicine are sitting empty in the cupboard at the Jordan home now, the morning testimony brought out. It also was shown that Mr. Jordan bought some strychnine recently to kill cats, but Mrs. Jordan was positive the poison had not been molested since it was put in a cupboard. There is some carbolic acid about the house, but there were no symptoms of carbolic acid in the girl's death.

Police reporters of the Tribune and the Herald were placed on the stand to testify as to the "dual personality" story Dr. Wilcox gave out the day after the girl's death. Both testified that the physician said the girl was afflicted with hysterical epilepsy from her early days and in attacks of the malady wandered away from home for two and three days at a time and was conscious after the attacks subsided of nothing she had done during them.

Because of the press of other work before Justice Smith the inquest was continued until Thursday, October 31.

Most of the testimony available now is, in any way, in the meantime the county sheriff's office will do its best to locate the Harolds and M. F. Thompson.

Most of the testimony available now is, in any way, in the meantime the county sheriff's office will do its best to locate the Harolds and M. F. Thompson.

Most of the testimony available now is, in any way, in the meantime the county sheriff's office will do its best to locate the Harolds and M. F. Thompson.

GENIAL TOM PITT IS INDUCTED INTO OFFICE

He Files His Bond and Is Escorted to Police Station by Mayor Bransford.

Genial Tom Pitt sits in the chief of police's chair of Salt Lake, formerly occupied by Roderick McKenzie. Mr. Pitt was inducted into office at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning, following his confirmation by the city council Monday.

Mr. Pitt appeared at the City and County building about 10 o'clock Tuesday morning and furnished bond, through Stowe & Palmer, with the American Security company as surety, with the county recorder, for $5,000. Mayor John S. Bransford carried Mr. Pitt to the police station in his automobile, "Sandy" Fowler accompanying them. Congratulations were showered on the new chief, and Mayor Bransford pinned a large gold badge on him. "I'll not soak this for a gun, I guess," remarked the new chief, upon being informed that it is real gold.

Chief Pitt said he had no announcement to make as to possible changes just now. He was conducted through the station and jail by apt. John L. Burdidge. At 3 o'clock the afternoon there will be an inspection, at which the new chief will meet most of the men. He was presented to the afternoon shift at the jail at 3 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon.

Chief Pitt says he has no innovations to make in the department; that for the present he will follow the policy of Chief McKenzie.

Card of Thanks.

I wish to thank my many friends for their assistance and sympathy during the recent illness and death of my wife, Ester E. Sutton.
GEORGE H. SUTTON.

Call and inspect the white enameled kitchen at the Royal cafe. Cleanliness and sanitation are perfect.

Excursion to Goldfield and Tonopah October 26, via Oregon Short Line. Round trip from Salt Lake or Ogden, $36.00. Limit November 4.

McCoy's Stables.

Carriages and light livery. Phones 81. designs and lodge emblems at the Flower Shop. Under National Bank of Republic.

FUNERAL

designs and lodge emblems at the Flower Shop. Under National Bank of Republic.

INJURED MAN NOT A FORMER SALT LAKE

Information has been received from the Tribune correspondent at Terre Haute, Ind., that John Gray, one of the men injured in the recent explosion in the powder mill at Fontaine, Ind., is not, according to a statement made by him in the hospital, a former resident of Salt Lake. The John Gray, who was born and raised here, was employed by trade, and left here about fifteen months ago for the East, without mentioning his objective point.

According to the statement of the disaster in an Eastern paper, Frank Gray, his father, who is living here at present, sent a photographer to describe to the scene of the disaster in order to ascertain if his son was injured.

We Present a Wide Variety

of the choicest furs to select from. Our prices are uniformly lower than are asked elsewhere for equal excellence of quality and workmanship, and our service is both prompt and satisfactory. McShee, the Furrier, Knutsford hotel.

All papers 25 per cent off.

W. A. Duvall, 110 West Second South.

Edward L. Dorn Writes.

The other side to the prosecution against Charles Konigsberg is given by Edward L. Dorn, vice-president of the Utah Coast Life Insurance company. In a letter, written to the city from Denver, Dorn denies that Konigsberg, who is alleged to have been a partner in the firm, was insured by the company, and attributes his statement to this effect as a "grandstand play."

SOCIETY.

Buy flowers at the Flower Shop, under National Bank of Republic.

All papers 25 per cent off.

W. A. Duvall, 110 West Second South.

Developed that his daughter carried life

insurance in the Metropolitan Life Insurance company amounting to $125. For a long time the premiums had been paid by her father, who was the beneficiary. Another child that died recently was insured, Mr. Jordan said. He also has insured the lives of two other children since then. He has not received the insurance Miss Lillie carried but expects to receive it, hopes to get it, he testified.

If the girl ever was afflicted with hysterical epilepsy he never knew anything of it, he testified. Neither he nor the girl's mother was afflicted with epilepsy, he said. Miss Lillie experienced three fainting spells, he said, that were superinduced by whiskey and assaults by young men upon her. Dr. Wilcox was called in one of these cases, he testified, but did not class the trouble as epilepsy.

It is possible that Dr. Wilcox will be recalled to furnish the formula for two medicines prescribed in diaphanous cases at the Jordan home, in May, this year. The bottles that contained the medicine are sitting empty in the cupboard at the Jordan home now, the morning testimony brought out. It also was shown that Mr. Jordan bought some strychnine recently to kill cats, but Mrs. Jordan was positive the poison had not been molested since it was put in a cupboard. There is some carbolic acid about the house, but there were no symptoms of carbolic acid in the girl's death.

Police reporters of the Tribune and the Herald were placed on the stand to testify as to the "dual personality" story Dr. Wilcox gave out the day after the girl's death. Both testified that the physician said the girl was afflicted with hysterical epilepsy from her early days and in attacks of the malady wandered away from home for two and three days at a time and was conscious after the attacks subsided of nothing she had done during them.

Because of the press of other work before Justice Smith the inquest was continued until Thursday, October 31.

Most of the testimony available now is, in any way, in the meantime the county sheriff's office will do its best to locate the Harolds and M. F. Thompson.

Most of the testimony available now is, in any way, in the meantime the county sheriff's office will do its best to locate the Harolds and M. F. Thompson.

Most of the testimony available now is, in any way, in the meantime the county sheriff's office will do its best to locate the Harolds and M. F. Thompson.

COLORADO VOTERS CHEER AMERICANS

Federation of Labor Hall Crowded With Enthusiastic Men and Women.

SHOULD REMEMBER PARTY HAS KEPT PROMISES

Quartette and Drum Corps Add Entertainment and Dancing Follows.

The colored American club rally Tuesday night at Federation of Labor hall was a revelation to those who had the good fortune to be its guests. The enthusiasm displayed throughout the evening and the applause which rang almost continuously in the building for the space of an hour and a half has rarely been equaled in the halls of the white man.

It was about 9 o'clock before the crowd commenced to arrive in force, but the spacious stairway was packed from that time until the hall above was jammed to the doors. Many were compelled to take seats in the ante-room during the speaking. Those who had arrived early whistled away the time dancing, and it was 9:15 before Chairman Charles McSwine called the meeting to order.

After the assemblage had been seated the Bransford quartette sang "I Was Born in Virginia," and they rendered the song with such delightful harmony that the whole audience swayed back and forth in rhythmic unison with the words and music. It was several minutes before the applause had subsided and the chairman could make himself heard to announce the first speaker of the evening, S. P. Armstrong.

Kept Its Promises.

Mr. Armstrong fully maintained his reputation as an orator, and made a telling plea for the votes of the colored people present and throughout the city for the American party. He said that the American party had kept every promise made by it to the colored citizens, and cried "It has" came from many parts of the hall.

While the Bransford quartette was singing "My Old Kentucky Home," a great noise was heard outside, and the familiar drum beat and life of the drum corps was heard tramping up the stairs. Led by the American flag, the corps marched into the hall to the tune of "Dixie," and it seemed as if bedlam was turned loose. The people cheered and laughed hysterically as the old familiar song, so dear to the heart of every man born under a Southern sky, was fired and drummed.

The boys arrayed themselves around the platform and bivaunched while Frank Christensen told them that there never would have been an American party in Utah if the freedom and spirit of which the American flag stands for had ever been encouraged and fostered in the hearts of the citizens of the state under church domination. After Mr. Christensen had finished his address the audience clamored for a song from the American quartette, and the boys responded with "Everybody Works but Joseph." This laughable parody convulsed the assemblage with merriment. The drum corps filed out of the hall, playing "Yankee Doodle."

Other Addresses.

When the noise of the drums had abated, E. A. Rogers took the platform and made a forceful address. He was followed by Clarence E. Ernst, who spoke for a few minutes and in well chosen words proved to the assembled voters the great need they had for sustaining the policy and administration of the American party.

After the main events of the evening dancing was resumed.

M'CORNICK HAD TO PAY; WANTS PART OF IT BACK

Sues William C. Hall as Guardian of Samuel A. Merritt for $2593.81.

In a complaint filed in the District court Tuesday, W. S. McCormick seeks to secure a judgment against William C. Hall as guardian of the person and estate of Samuel A. Merritt for $2593.81.

The amount claimed is alleged to be due plaintiff from Samuel A. Merritt as one-half of the amount which McCormick was required to pay upon a defaulted administrator's bond, which was furnished jointly with Merritt. The complaint shows that Morris Sommer was appointed administrator of the estate of James Reid about March 10, 1904; that in order to qualify himself as such administrator, Sommer secured W. S. McCormick and Samuel A. Merritt as sureties upon the bond. Some time later, the complaint shows that Sommer died and after an investigation was made as to his duties as administrator it was found that he had wrongfully appropriated $4,575.20 of Reid's estate to his own use. McCormick and Merritt were called upon to make this shortage good, and the amount was settled by McCormick.

On February 16, 1905, Merritt was adjudged by the Probate court to be of unsound mind, and William C. Hall was appointed by the court as guardian of his estate and person. McCormick says that he made a demand upon Hall as guardian for the amount claimed, which is one-half of the amount paid on the shortage, but Hall has refused to settle the claim.

"The Sword of Ferrara," by the Orpheus club, will be the fine opening number of the Maconda recital, Monday evening, October 28, at the First Methodist church. Tickets now on sale at the Beesley music store, 46 Main street. General admission, $1.00. Reserved seats, $1.50.

O'MARA IS SCHEDULING SKATING CARNIVAL

The management of the Auditorium Roller Skating rink is making arrangements for a big rink carnival, to take place on the evening of October 21, Monday night, and a royal good time for patrons of the rink is promised. Manager O'Mara says that scores of handsome prizes will be given away on this occasion for the various events. Every person in costume will be given a prize, in addition to those that will be offered for the different contests. This will be the first big event of the kind this season. Last season two mask carnivals were given at the Auditorium and both were most successful. It is proposed to give several this season.

PEMBROKE'S ENGRAVING

And embossing received the gold medal at the State fair. Finest wedding invitations etc. Send your dies to us. We keep them insured.

"The Sword of Ferrara," by the Orpheus club, will be the fine opening number of the Maconda recital, Monday evening, October 28, at the First Methodist church. Tickets now on sale at the Beesley music store, 46 Main street. General admission, $1.00. Reserved seats, $1.50.

voters the great need they had for sustaining the policy and administration of the American party. He said that the American party had kept every promise made by it to the colored citizens, and cried "It has" came from many parts of the hall.

While the Bransford quartette was singing "My Old Kentucky Home," a great noise was heard outside, and the familiar drum beat and life of the drum corps was heard tramping up the stairs. Led by the American flag, the corps marched into the hall to the tune of "Dixie," and it seemed as if bedlam was turned loose. The people cheered and laughed hysterically as the old familiar song, so dear to the heart of every man born under a Southern sky, was fired and drummed.

The boys arrayed themselves around the platform and bivaunched while Frank Christensen told them that there never would have been an American party in Utah if the freedom and spirit of which the American flag stands for had ever been encouraged and fostered in the hearts of the citizens of the state under church domination. After Mr. Christensen had finished his address the audience clamored for a song from the American quartette, and the boys responded with "Everybody Works but Joseph." This laughable parody convulsed the assemblage with merriment. The drum corps filed out of the hall, playing "Yankee Doodle."

Other Addresses.

When the noise of the drums had abated, E. A. Rogers took the platform and made a forceful address. He was followed by Clarence E. Ernst, who spoke for a few minutes and in well chosen words proved to the assembled voters the great need they had for sustaining the policy and administration of the American party.

After the main events of the evening dancing was resumed.

BREAKS PLATE GLASS OF THE VIENNA CAFE

J. K. Van Trump of New York, While Intoxicated, Falls Through Window.

J. K. Van Trump, of New York City, a traveling salesman stopping at the Knutsford hotel, while staggering about under a "big" too heavy for one man to carry, pitched through the big plate-glass window of the Vienna cafe at 141 South Main street about 11:30 o'clock Tuesday night, shattering the glass from top to bottom, and nearly sealing to death the fishes in the pool at the window.

In falling a gash a half inch deep and about an inch long was cut in the left temple and an artery was severed, from which blood flowed profusely, flooding the sidewalk. A cat was called and Van Trump was taken to his room, No. 326. A physician dressed the cuts, which included besides the ugly looking one in the left temple several small gashes and scratches over the face and forehead. At the time of the accident, Van Trump was staggering into the glass bawling, but turned as he fell, pitching head foremost through the glass and striking on his face and shoulder. The plate glass is three-eighths of an inch thick and varied in size from 18 inches to 24 inches. "Drunk" accidents Van Trump will have to make a noise like $150 to George W. Morgan, the proprietor. It was said the Vienna Tuesday night.

WIFE OF MURDERED MAN DISTURBS THE PEACE

Lizzie Voss, wife of H. H. Voss, the negro politician, who last fall was convicted of murdering the peace officer, Judge C. B. Diehl's court, Tuesday afternoon, has been appointed by the court as guardian of his estate and person. McCormick says that he made a demand upon Hall as guardian for the amount claimed, which is one-half of the amount paid on the shortage, but Hall has refused to settle the claim.

"The Sword of Ferrara," by the Orpheus club, will be the fine opening number of the Maconda recital, Monday evening, October 28, at the First Methodist church. Tickets now on sale at the Beesley music store, 46 Main street. General admission, $1.00. Reserved seats, $1.50.

PEMBROKE'S ENGRAVING

And embossing received the gold medal at the State fair. Finest wedding invitations etc. Send your dies to us. We keep them insured.

"The Sword of Ferrara," by the Orpheus club, will be the fine opening number of the Maconda recital, Monday evening, October 28, at the First Methodist church. Tickets now on sale at the Beesley music store, 46 Main street. General admission, $1.00. Reserved seats, $1.50.

voters the great need they had for sustaining the policy and administration of the American party. He said that the American party had kept every promise made by it to the colored citizens, and cried "It has" came from many parts of the hall.

While the Bransford quartette was singing "My Old Kentucky Home," a great noise was heard outside, and the familiar drum beat and life of the drum corps was heard tramping up the stairs. Led by the American flag, the corps marched into the hall to the tune of "Dixie," and it seemed as if bedlam was turned loose. The people cheered and laughed hysterically as the old familiar song, so dear to the heart of every man born under a Southern sky, was fired and drummed.

The boys arrayed themselves around the platform and bivaunched while Frank Christensen told them that there never would have been an American party in Utah if the freedom and spirit of which the American flag stands for had ever been encouraged and fostered in the hearts of the citizens of the state under church domination. After Mr. Christensen had finished his address the audience clamored for a song from the American quartette, and the boys responded with "Everybody Works but Joseph." This laughable parody convulsed the assemblage with merriment. The drum corps filed out of the hall, playing "Yankee Doodle."

Other Addresses.

When the noise of the drums had abated, E. A. Rogers took the platform and made a forceful address. He was followed by Clarence E. Ernst, who spoke for a few minutes and in well chosen words proved to the assembled voters the great need they had for sustaining the policy and administration of the American party.

After the main events of the evening dancing was resumed.

After the main events of the evening dancing was resumed.

After the main events of the evening dancing was resumed.

After the main events of the evening dancing was resumed.

After the main events of the evening dancing was resumed.

After the main events of the evening dancing was resumed.

After the main events of the evening dancing was resumed.

After the main events of the evening dancing was resumed.

After the main events of the evening dancing was resumed.

After the main events of the evening dancing was resumed.

After the main events of the evening dancing was resumed.

WEBER TELLS AMERICAN

guished Orator at Rio Fourth Ward Hear Mission Chapel.

DALTON TELLS LABORERS OF AMERICAN